APM Benefits and Value SIG - 2022 to the future

Benefits and value management is about why we do things. It's the key to decisions, whether to invest (portfolio decisions), which option to implement (programme and project gateway decisions), and decisions throughout delivery of projects and programmes. It's key to successful implementation, benefits and value management changes how the operations side of the organisation, or the community, makes use of the capabilities and outcomes handed over.

APM Benefits and Value SIG is active with webinars and face-to-face events, well attended committee meetings and a weekly drop-in to share developments in the profession, blogs and thought leadership. We run joint panel dialogues with other SIGs and host events with branches. We're deeply involved with British Standards Institute preparing the Benefits management British standard.

The community of practice is organised into working groups with a remit to deliver:

- Liaison with organisations outside the SIG
- Communications
- Thought leadership

We're delighted to welcome people to the committee and the wider active volunteers' group, to contribute and to learn.
